SERVICE RIG TRAINING

Qualified, competent people are a competitive advantage for well servicing companies.

50% of new hires have an accident in their first 3 months; after 6 month's training and experience accidents drop to less than 5%. The average injury costs the operator and service company approximately $100,000; a fatality is over $1 million. Therefore, job competence is good business for everyone.

Competency is key to both safety and productivity, which is recognized in the IRP requirements of regulators and associations (i.e. OH&S, OHS, CAODC, Enform, etc.)

Coole Immersive Inc. (Coole) has developed an immersive, competency based training program that will get new workers productive faster, with fewer incidents and with verifiable competencies that meet the Enform/CAODC standards.
